Dear Attendee:

Welcome to the APA 2019 Convention in Chicago! We are delighted that you are here.

As your programming chairs, we are excited to welcome you to this year’s conference. As you’ll see in the next few pages, we have worked hard to create a program of presentations designed to provide you with cutting edge research in the area of child and adolescent psychology.

Each symposium includes internationally known experts in research in the respective areas. We have presentations that cover a range of topics related to child and adolescent psychology, including mood disorders, autism spectrum disorders, disruptive behavior disorders, school-based approaches, and much more. We have additional presentations on selecting mentors when applying to doctoral programs in psychology and expanding access to psychological science for everyone.

We have four keynote presentations that we would love for you to attend and bring your colleagues: (1) Laurie Wakschlag, PhD, “Healthier, Earlier: A Transdiagnostic Approach to Accelerating Neurodevelopmental Discovery to Mental Health Prevention Beginning at Birth,” (2) Thomas Shafee, PhD, “Wikipedia as a Key Public Health Tool: Leveraging the World’s Most-Read Information Source,” (3) Joan Luby, MD, “Early Childhood Depression: Parent Child Therapy Targeting Emotion Development,” and (4) Geraldine Dawson, PhD, “Early Intervention and Brain Development in Autism.” We’re sure you’ll find these presentations inspiring and enlightening.

Please make sure to check out the schedule of programming in the hospitality suite, including opportunities for networking and obtaining mentorship.

Our hope is that you will have many opportunities to engage, learn, network, and enjoy yourself! Be sure to follow us on Twitter: (@_SCCAP). We will be posting reminders of upcoming talks. If you use social media, be sure to tag us with #SCCAPatAPA #APA2019.

Again, welcome and please enjoy yourself!

Sincerely,

Meghan Miller, PhD and Andrew Freeman, PhD
Programming Co-Chairs
MISSION

The purpose of SCCAP is to encourage the development and advancement of clinical child and adolescent psychology through integration of its scientific and professional aspects. SCCAP promotes scientific inquiry, training, professional practice, and public policy in clinical child and adolescent psychology as a means of improving the welfare and mental health of children, youth, and families in the context of a diverse society. In the service of these goals, SCCAP promotes the general objectives of the American Psychological Association.

VISION

From its inception, the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology (SCCAP), APA Division 53, has been committed to advancing the clinical knowledge base and services provided to children and their families.

SCCAP continues this important agenda through policy work as it relates to child and adolescent mental health, through shaping and building the scientific practice, and through conferences designed to bring cutting-edge clinical research to frontline practitioners.

SCCAP’s creation, growth, and advancement continue to demonstrate a commitment to both science and practice. Through the membership’s expertise, energy, and commitment, and the financial and journal resources, SCCAP is in a unique position to influence the research and clinical practice of child and adolescent psychology now and in the future.

SCCAP’s educational and scientific conferences strengthen efforts to advance the knowledge and skills of practitioners and researchers.

Thanks to your membership, SCCAP is able to work toward improvements in children’s mental health care services at local and national levels. It also offers advocacy in support of mental health careers and training. Because of SCCAP’s continued growth, which is directly related to representation on APA’s Council of Representatives, SCCAP’s membership has a strong voice on APA task forces and committees, as well as participates in ongoing discussions on clinical child specialization and accreditation.

Learning how to do great science requires a toolbox of skills. Skills for effectively communicating science. To secure funding for scientific work. To identify where and when job opportunities arise. To get the offers to start your first job and build the record to keep that job. No one takes a class to acquire this toolbox, who has the time? Yet, we still need these tools, so where do we find them? We launched the Future Directions Forum to help you build your scientific toolbox. The Forum, dedicates a full day to offering professional development workshops, as well as small group and one-on-one expert consultations on all aspects of academic work. We webcast many of these events online so that those who cannot attend in-person can access to this content from wherever they are.

Professional Development Series

LIFE-LONG LEARNING MADE EASY
SCCAP offers several vehicles for staying up to date on evidence-based practice and other issues relevant to child and adolescent mental health. Our webinar series focuses on topical issues and is enhanced by member forums that extend networking and educational opportunities after the webinar is over. SCCAP53.org contains links to keynote speeches and treatment training videos developed in partnership with the FIU Center for Children and Families. Personalized learning is also available by participating in SCCAP’s Mentor programs.

CO-SPONSORED CE & CONFERENCE PROGRAMS
SCCAP takes an interdisciplinary approach to sponsoring CE programs as a way to more broadly advocate for children’s mental health and to provide members with a variety of network of experiences. APA CE Program listings: SCCAP53.org
SCCAP co-sponsors the MICAMH and NCCCAP Conferences that provide child and adolescent focused programing.

JCCAP Future Directions Forum
We launched the Future Directions Forum to help early career scientists build their scientific toolbox. At the Forum (June 28th-29th; Washington, DC), we dedicate a full day to offering professional development workshops, as well as small group and one-on-one expert consultations on all aspects of academic work. We webcast many of these events online so that those who cannot attend in-person can have access to this content from wherever they are.

“Productive and successful careers typically reflect the important role of mentors and mentorship. Reflecting its significant value, the student mentorship program offers opportunities to build professional relationships that will likely facilitate your own development.”

STEVE LEE, 2018 SCCAP PRESIDENT

“Colleagues are a wonderful thing – but mentors, that’s where the real work gets done.” — Junot Diaz

SCCAP’s mentorship program aims to consistently develop future leaders in the field of psychology who will strive to uphold the values of scientific excellence and a commitment to the wellbeing of children and adolescents across a variety of research and clinical settings.

Our program’s mission is to facilitate meaningful mentoring relationships among SCCAP professionals and students. We believe in the power of mentoring to foster personal and professional development, enhance connections to the clinical child and adolescent psychology community, mutually build professional networks and support systems and, subsequently, provide only the highest level of care to the people we serve.

WHO: Undergraduate students, graduate students, early career professionals (ECPs). The program welcomes both research- and clinically-focused participants.

WHAT: Undergraduates are paired with a graduate student mentor, graduate students are paired with an ECP mentor

HOW: Mentorship dyads are matched based on participants’ interests and goals. After being matched, participants are encouraged to get to know their mentor/mentee through regular contact (e.g., email, phone calls, video chats).

FAQ

Will I be matched with a mentor/mentee in my city? No, you could be matched with a mentor/mentee located anywhere in the country!

How often will I talk to my mentor/mentee? It’s up to you! We encourage dyads to discuss their mutual goals and collaboratively set expectations for contact.

What should we talk about? The mentorship program focuses on professional development. The most common topics of conversation are CV development, graduate school options, interviewing strategies, and internship/clinical experiences. Dyads will also receive periodic check-ins from the program coordinators that will include suggestions for topics to discuss.

Fellow status requires that a person’s work has had a national impact on the field beyond local, state, or regional levels. A high level of competence or steady and continuing contributions are not sufficient solely to warrant Fellow status. In order to demonstrate outstanding contributions or performance in clinical child and adolescent psychology, the applicant must be able to provide:

- Documentation of sustained contributions or performance in clinical child and adolescent psychology over a period of a minimum of ten (10) years
- Evidence of distinctive contributions to clinical child and adolescent psychology that are recognized by others as excellent
- Data exhibiting a documented impact beyond the immediate setting in which the candidate/nominee works
